

Pococera baptisiella No common name

Status	Rank
NC	US
NC	Global

FAMILY: Pyralidae SUBFAMILY: Epipaschiinae TRIBE:
 TAXONOMIC_COMMENTS:

FIELD GUIDE DESCRIPTIONS:
 ONLINE PHOTOS:
 TECHNICAL DESCRIPTION, ADULTS:
 TECHNICAL DESCRIPTION, IMMATURE STAGES: Allyson (1977)

ID COMMENTS:

DISTRIBUTION: Pococera baptisiella is primarily found from Massachusetts and New Jersey westward through western New York, Ohio, northern Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, and Wisconsin to Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, and northern Oklahoma. It also occurs sporadically along the Atlantic Coast region from New Jersey southward to all of Florida.

FLIGHT COMMENT: The adults have been observed from March through September.

HABITAT:

FOOD: The larvae feed on species of Baptisia (Allyson, 1977) and apparently Lead Plant (Amorpha canescens) in the Midwest (BugGuide).

OBSERVATION_METHODS:

NATURAL HERITAGE PROGRAM RANKS:

STATE PROTECTION:

COMMENTS: